MRS. WARNER PASSED AWAY LAST NIGHT

Beloved Dixon Woman Died in Alaskan Hospital Thursday

A cablegram received this morning announced the death at Ketchikan, Alaska of Mrs. A. C. Warner, of this city, at 10:30 last evening. Mrs. Warner left Dixon July 25, accompanied by Miss Florence P. Bosworth and Miss Gracia and Laura Rogers of this city, for an Alaskan trip, and had planned to return to Jasper National Park for a sojourn there. She was taken ill while returning from Alaska and was removed from the ship to a hospital at Ketchikan, Alaska where every possible effort was made on her behalf. Her companions are at Ketchikan with her and will remain until the arrival of Attorney Robert A. Warner, of this city, who left last Tuesday immediately after learning of his mother's illness.

FROM PIONEER FAMILY

Mrs. Warner was the daughter of Christopher C. Brookner and Jane Brookner, who were among Dixon's earliest settlers. She was graduated from the Dixon High School in 1874 and taught the country school on the Duls Farm, South of Dixon, a portion of the following year. On December 18, 1875 she was married to A. Clinton Warner, then Deputy County Clerk under the late James A. Hawley of this city. Mr. Warner died July 23, 1927, nearly a year ago.

Seven sons were born of that marriage. Henry C. Warner, an attorney of this city; Edward C. Warner, an expert accountant of Chicago; James C. Warner, who died in 1902 while on an ocean voyage near South Africa; William H. Warner, a consulting engineer of Chicago; Fred M. Warner, a bond salesman of Chicago; John P. Warner, who died when a lad in 1891 and Robert L. Warner, also an attorney of Dixon.

Two sisters, Mrs. George A. Reynolds, of Birmingham, New York and Mrs. William H. Crose, of Santa Ana, California and one brother William W. Brookner, of Globe, Arizona, also survive. Another brother, Frank C. Brookner, an esteemed resident of Dixon for many years, died a few months ago.

Funeral arrangements cannot be completed owing to the distance of Ketchikan, which is a seaport city along the Alaskan coast, about 600 miles north from Vancouver.

Robert Warner is expected to reach Vancouver tonight and the Alaskan city on Monday.

Mrs. Warner's death brings sorrow to a wide circle of friends in Dixon, where she was loved and admired for her many endearing qualities of character.

Town Guards Are In Competition At State Shoot

J. J. Macklin, William N. Rogers, Irvin P. Knauer, L. G. Lathrop, H. M. Chao and P. L. Lazier of the Lee County Town Guards organizations are in Springfield today competing in the third annual state-wide shoot of Guards at Camp Lincoln, being among 117 individuals entered in the competition in rifle, pistol and shotgun events. The 117, chosen in county contests, are the cream of the 3,500 armed Town Guards in the state.

Macklin, Rogers and Knauer are entered in the rifle contests; Macklin and Lathrop in the pistol events and Chao and Lazier in the shotgun competition.

The organization of the Town Guards, to halt bank robberies in state, began a little over three years ago at the time when bandits were making so frequent and lucrative raids on financial institutions. With the inception of the protective plan, an immediate decrease in the number of attacks was noted, and so far this year, according to the records of the state association, there have been only four daylight holdups. Three of these have been entirely solved with all participants captured and serving their time in penal institutions.

Polo Fans Coming Here to Back Team

A delegation of about 250 baseball fans from Polo and vicinity will accompany the team from that city to Dixon Sunday afternoon for the game to be played at the Independent park in the west end of the city in the Blackhawk league schedule. Both teams have won two games each in the second round of the season's schedule and are now struggling for the league leadership.

Bowman of Dubuque will start twirling for the Polo team with Phelan on the receiving end Sunday afternoon. Reddish and Skelton will form the battery for the Independents.

BLOOMINGTON ON JUMP

Bloomington, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—An angry, homeless, buzzing swarm of bees today transformed a quiet block in Bloomington into some resemblance of the slapstick movie comedy lot when they invaded the Hotel Rogers apparently in search of quarters. Loiterers scamped for cover, motorists dashed madly down the street and pedestrians sought cover until the bees vacated the street and hotel.

ALL MEXICO PAYS HOMAGE TO OREGON

Police Chief Says the Church is Responsible For His Death

Mexico City, July 20.—(AP)—A congress made up mainly of supporters of Alvaro Obregon will meet in special session on July 30 presumably to settle the question of presidential succession raised by his assassination.

It is generally expected that a way will be found to continue President Calles in office. A nine day period of mourning will be observed throughout Mexico in the meantime for the slain president-elect, whose body today was traveling on a special train to his native state of Sonora for burial.

Blames Catholic Clergy.

General Antonio Rios Zertuche, installed as chief of Police to replace the investigation into the killing announced "that responsibility for the crime lies with the Catholic clergy."

Twenty Catholic nuns from the town of Villa Guadalupe, where the shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe, patron saint of Mexico, is situated, were arrested and the convent was closed. Police charged that they were operating secretly in violation of the religious laws. They were held at police headquarters where the police, Jose De Leon Toral, is in a dungeon.

"You Are Avenged."

A placard bearing the words, "You are avenged," was found on the tomb of the priest, Miguel Pro, Jaurez, who was executed last November for being involved in the attempt to assassinate General Obregon with bombs. Police said a picture of the priest was found on the assassin.

The newspaper El Universal Grafico said police were investigating reports, the source of which was not revealed, that some of the former leaders of the League for the Defense of Legitimate Liberty were recently involved in a riot against Obregon.

The league has been most active in expression to the Mexico religious laws.

A number of relatives of four men, including Pro Juarez, who were executed for the bombing attempt, were summoned to police headquarters for interrogation.

President Calles today was under a heavy military guard. The precautions were taken at the behest of his friends, although Calles has rejected any idea that his personal safety was in danger.

Special police guards were placed around the residences of all prominent supporters of General Obregon.

Police Chief Zertuche exhibited De Leon Toral to a group of Mexican and foreign newspaper men in police headquarters to put an end to reports that he had already been executed secretly or had been mutilated by torture. The slayer was paraded up and down the chief's office. He sat down in a chair and arose again as instructed. Then the chief asked "can you talk?"

The prisoner replied in Spanish, "I think so."

He was taken out without the reporters being allowed to ask him any questions.

The slayer's left eye was black and swollen. There were a few bruises on his face but all traces of blood had been washed away. It was intimated that the bruises had been sustained in the scuffle which followed the assassination.

The youth's face had an expression of extreme weariness and betrayed lack of sleep. He was collarless although clean shaven. He wore a wrinkled brown suit. His eyes were evasive and his expression was stolid and rather sullen.

Want To Keep Calles In

Indications were that supporters of Obregon would attempt to continue President Calles as the head of the state, if it could be done with any shadow of legal sanction.

Newspapers polled members of the Obregon congressional bloc and found that at present they were ready to proclaim Calles their chief replacing Obregon.

Friends of President Calles believe that he does not desire to continue in his post. They feel that he has been anticipating with much pleasure his retirement to private life as a dairy farmer.

The country has settled down to everyday appearance and tranquility. Censorship which became effective the night after the slaying was lifted.

Okla. City, Okla., July 20.—(AP)—The Right Rev. Francis Campion Y. Angeles, exiled auxiliary Bishop of Oaxaca, Mexico, in a statement here said the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon has defeated the hopes of Catholic clergy for the end of "religious persecutions" in Mexico. These hopes, he said were pinned on Obregon's conciliatory attitudes toward them.

"All of our hopes were centered in the more conciliatory spirit of the President-elect," the statement said. "He was in touch with the opinions of the Mexican Bishops and hopes for an end of the religious persecutions were centered upon him."

STORM YESTERDAY CAUSED DEATH OF 9; DAMAGED GRAINS

Two Killed By Lightning On Golf Course—Crops Damaged

The storm of Thursday noon which precipitated a two-inch rain fall in Dixon, took on cyclonic proportions in many parts of the county and according to reports today, crops suffered heavily from high wind which was accompanied by the heavy rain. In Marion township a silo was demolished on the George Haley farm and a chicken house on the William Damm farm was almost completely wrecked.

Corn and oats were laid flat in many places and the loss to crops was considered to be very heavy. Reports today indicated that in many places the corn and grain was straightening up and it was expected that the losses would not be as heavy as was first expected.

Track laborers worked throughout yesterday afternoon rebuilding the road bed and replacing the Illinois Central tracks which were washed out during the down pour at Forrest avenue. Carloads of gravel were brought from the railroad company's pits at Forreston and the tracks were open to the regular traffic at 5 o'clock last evening.

HIT NORTHERN ILLINOIS

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—An electrical storm, characterized by severity and brevity, and accompanied by a 64-mile an hour gale, centered up on Chicago and northeastern Illinois yesterday afternoon, causing the deaths of nine persons and property damage which early today was estimated at many thousands of dollars.

Numerous homes and buildings were struck by lightning, grain was destroyed, streets and basements were flooded and electrical power lines short circuited.

A man and a woman were struck by lightning while seeking shelter under trees on two golf links, a workman was blown from a building by winds: A third man was killed by a broken power line, and five persons were struck by the effects of the heat.

Mrs. Frederick B. Hovey, 38, of suburban Oak Park, was killed by lightning on an Oak Park golf course, and Herman Swearing, 30, Gary, Ind., met a similar death on a golf links near Hammond, Ind.

Robert Frontszak, 13, Chicago, caddy for Mrs. Hovey, was seriously injured by a bolt and two companions of Strubieg, Raymond Hickey and Fred Hunt, both of Hammond, were knocked unconscious.

Raymond Mador, 21, Chicago, was blown from the top of a building under construction and killed, while two others narrowly escaped injury.

Touched a Live Wire.

Peter Chimino, 46, Chicago, died when he touched a live wire.

Power was cut off in many places and telephone service temporarily crippled. Small grains were slashed to the ground in nearby counties. Buildings in the center of the city at Dixon, Ill., were flooded. Farmers near Aurora, Ill., reported heavy damage to grain and other crops.

Ogle, Whiteside, Carroll and Lee counties reported heavy down-pours and consequent damage to small grains.

At Pittsville, Wis., the waters of Cat Creek rose so high that two bridges were carried away and a number of highways were blocked.

Further showers with little change in temperature was the weather forecast for today.

PRESIDENT IS MAKING RECORD CATCHING FISH

Often Brings In Two With One Cast of The Line

Superior, Wis., July 20.—(AP)—President Coolidge not only is catching fish every time he goes out on the Brule, but on an average of every other day, he is performing the unusual feat of getting two trout on one cast.

He thrilled newspapermen and photographers July 4th, his fifty-sixth birthday, by pulling from the river two good sized fish on one throw of his line, but it was not known until today he is repeating that stunt regularly by putting one fly on the line's dropper and the other on the end of the line.

The President made a double catch yesterday, getting a 1½ pound brook trout and a 1½ pound lake trout. He did the same thing the previous day.

Rain or shine, Mr. Coolidge is on one river six days a week, twice each day, except when he comes to the executive offices on Tuesday and Fridays.

Mrs. H. T. Noble, Mrs. Dorothy Jane McCoy and daughter, Jane Lamb and Miss Florence Anderson motored to Clinton Wednesday to spend the day.

PROSPERITY TO FOLLOW COAL PACT

Predict Much Benefit From Settlement of Wage Dispute

St. Louis, July 20.—(AP)—Abolishment of the Jacksonville agreement by the United Mine Workers of America was looked upon as the first step toward amicable settlement of the dispute between operators and miners in the Illinois field by St. Louis officials of coal companies owning mines in that region. New negotiations to open between the United Mine Workers of the Illinois district and the operators would result in consummation of new contracts before Sept. 1, it was predicted.

W. J. Jenkins, President of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association, will leave late today to confer with several leading operators in central Illinois and then proceed to Springfield to talk with Harry Fishwin, president of the mine workers.

Will Revive Industry.

"If a lower wage can be effected, there will be a general resumption of the coal industry in Illinois, as the demand for Illinois coal will increase," said M. S. Jones, manager of the Cahokia Coal Company of Missouri. "A lower wage scale will mean cheaper coal for the factories and for the smaller consumers. I expect an early favorable agreement."

E. J. Wallace, a member of the war-time fuel administration, predicted the abandonment of the Jacksonville wage scale would revive a trade territory of 500,000 people and will better conditions in every line of trade.

To Aid Big Area

"It will change a poverty-ridden area, making up two-thirds of the state of Illinois into a prosperous community and it will relieve the demand for aid on charity organizations in Illinois," he said.

"It will be an enormous factor in the survival of the fittest in the coal industry," Wallace added, "and mines that can produce most economically will continue to get a lower-priced coal most necessary for the growth of other industries."

"The miner is now placed in a position to negotiate for a wage scale and an agreement that gives him a right to say if he wishes to work more days at a lower per-ton scale. It will crowd out several million tons of West Kentucky coal and cause a revolution in the industrial fuel situation of St. Louis, where more Illinois coal will be consumed than ever before."

MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF YOUNG GIRL IS PUZZLING POLICE

24 Year Old Student Found Dead in Hudson River —Seek Author

New York, July 20.—(AP)—The death of Virginia Drew, 24-year-old student of literature and reincarnation whose body was found floating in the Hudson River, furnished a mystery today.

The parents were inclined to place little blame on a report to police by Caroline Novotny, who described herself as a friend of Miss Drew, that the student had told her of a suicide pact with a novelist, but they asked a full investigation.

It was determined that Miss Drew had called on Maxwell Bodenheim, author of "Replenishing Jessica," on Sunday night. She was not seen again until her body was found yesterday. The girl's father, a New York Central agent, said he did not believe his daughter had had a suicide pact with Bodenheim, but he felt that the novelist might have "something to explain" which would help clear up the mystery.

Bodenheim, police found, checked out from the hotel where the girl visited him, on Tuesday and his publishers said they had not been able to reach him since. Both Miss Novotny and Miss Drew's parents said that Bodenheim had been helping the girl with her writing and that she had seemed dejected over criticisms he had made of her work.

ST. LOUIS GANGSTERS ATTACK

St. Louis, July 20.—(AP)—Two men and a woman who carried a baby in their arms were wounded as two automobile loads of gunmen poured a fusillade of shotgun and pistol fire at them here today. Joseph Stalone, 37, was in a serious condition with six bullets in his back; Jim De Georgia suffered a superficial wound and his wife Mary, 18, received a scalp wound. The De Georgias were in the line of fire estimated by police at 60 shots.

WILL INQUIRE INTO CAUSE OF DEATH OF CAPT. LOWENSTEIN

Finding of Body Revives Mystery Surrounding His Death

Calais, France, July 20.—(AP)—Finding of the body of Captain Alfred Lowenstein, Belgian financier, today revived the mystery which surrounds his death.

It was believed that the French government would begin an official inquiry to establish whether death was accidental or suicidal and whether any of his fellow passengers on the fatal plane trip share responsibility for his death. Discovery of the body definitely set at rest rumors that the mystery man of European finance had perpetrated a gigantic hoax and was still alive.

The authorities still have to determine whether he fell accidentally from his plane in crossing the channel or deliberately wrenched open the exit door and plunged to his death.

Death Cause Uncertain.

Dr. Bouffroy, who examined the body, found nothing to show the exact cause of death, whether he was drowned or killed by the shock of the fall from a height of 4,000 feet. All he could do was to make absolutely certain of the identity by comparison of the dental work with work that it was known that Captain Lowenstein had done. It was considered probable that the case would be turned over to an examining magistrate shortly.

Finding of the body will permit immediately the preliminary work of winding up the vast Lowenstein estate.

Body Badly Mutilated.

The body was battered and decomposed when found by a fishing smack floating face downward ten miles off Cape Gris Nez. The sea had stripped it of clothing except part of the underwear and shoes. On a watch on the wrist was engraved:

"Captain Lowenstein, 35 Rue De La Science, Brussels."

There was a deep wound in the abdomen and three gashes on the left breast and the left shoulder. It was thought probable that these had been made by the propeller blades of channel steamers.

Captain Lowenstein's body was placed in a casket which had been sent overnight from Brussels and a funeral car will take the body home as soon as the authorities here complete the necessary formalities.

Madame Lowenstein was persuaded not to come to Calais but sent her brother and brother-in-law to take charge of the body.

MOUNT MORRIS MAN ROBBED AT POINT OF GUN

Bandits Slash His Tires To Hinder Pursuit

Freeport.—Stephenson county authorities are searching for two highwaymen, who Wednesday night held up and robbed Dewey Shappell, Mt. Morris, of 97 at a lonely spot four miles west of town on Route 26 (intercutting all of their victims' tires to prevent pursuit).

Shappell was returning from Iowa and passed through Freeport on his way to Mt. Morris where he is employed by the Buser Lumber company. Reaching the Great Western subway, south of Freeport, he saw a man standing in the road and signalled him to stop.

Believing the man to be a motorist, who needed help, Shappell halted his machine. The bandit carried an inner tube in one hand and asked the Mt. Morris driver if he could spare a tire patch. While hunting through his supply kit, Shappell felt a gun pressed into his ribs.

Looking up, he saw a second man walk toward the car. The pair went through Shappell's pockets and removed all of his cash. One of them warned the Mt. Morris man to remain where he was until they were out of sight but the other refused to take a chance of pursuit and slashed the tires of their victim's car.

Fail To Summon Help.

Shappell tried to summon help at a nearby farm house, but failed to "use anyone. Although he hailed every motorist who passed, none would stop until L. C. Clark and Edward Brown, Freeport, who driving from Springfield, passed. They brought Shappell here and notified the sheriff's office.

The bandits drove a Hudson sedan which bore no license plates, their victim declared. He was able to give an accurate description of the pair as neither wore a mask, but late today authorities had made no arrests.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER—Margaret Stineback.

His dreams have all grown lovely with the years
The bullet-ache within his breast has flown
As have the horrors; the dried, scarlet smears
Upon a comrade's sleeve; the anguished groan
Of some young prisoner; the rat-a-tat
Of busy calculating guns; the sound of bursting shell, of shouting, and the spat
Of wet French earth when shot ploughed through the ground.

The din has passed away. Now flowers spill
Their quiet petals like a fresh caress.
There is dim relaxation in the thrill
Of cool, rich soil, in the forgetfulness
It fosters. He is like a sleeping boy
Whose brow is damp, with tired brown curls that cling.
He has that same exhaustion, that same joy.
That pure oblivion of everything.

This is the Unknown Soldier. His dear grave
Is hallowed. So we, very grateful say:
"He signifies the bravest of the brave;
He is above the common run of clay."
Yet, what is bravery—if it must show
Its potency in carnage? Oh, they tread
The truest road of bravery who go
Along the path of Peace—God's path—instead!

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Chilled cantaloupe, ready-to-serve cereal, cream, creamed cottage ham with broiled tomatoes, toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Deviled crabs, lettuce sandwiches, filled cup cakes, lemonade or iced tea.

DINNER—Planked bass, shoe string potatoes, wax beans, cottage cheese salad, strawberry tapioca pudding, milk, coffee.

Deviled Crabs

One-half dozen fresh crabs, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 3-4 cup thin cream, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1-4 teaspoon ground mace, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 1 egg yolk, 1 hard cooked egg, 1-2 cup buttered crumbs.
Cook crabs in boiling, salted water for 30 minutes. Plunge into cold water. Let stand until cold and drain. Pull off claws close to the body, crack them with a hammer or nut cracker and pick out the meat. A nut pick is handy. Pull shell from the body and remove gills and the dark streak that runs through the center and the fat found in the cavity between the halves. Discard any soft spongy material found.

Pick out the meat from the sections, taking care to exclude all the bone-like parts. Scrape soft white substance from shell and add to meat. Wash the hard upper shell well and set aside to dry. Melt butter, stir in flour and add mace and parsley. Add cream slowly, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and stir in slightly beaten egg yolk. Remove from fire and add Worcestershire sauce, crab meat and hard cooked egg, both chopped. Fill four shells rounding full, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderately hot oven until crumbs are brown. It will take about fifteen minutes. Serve garnished with a sprig of parsley.

RAISING PARTNER'S BID—3

If you do not possess normal support do not raise your partner's bid on the first round. This is mandatory.

Regardless of the rest of your hand therefore, the first raise should not be made unless you hold normal trump support. If your partner, however, bids two of the suit without your assistance, the foregoing requirement is no longer applicable.

To raise your partner's bid once, your hand should contain two assisting tricks and for each additional assisting trick, you may again raise your partner's bid once.

Your hand contains one assisting trick when you hold:

1—A quick trick, Ace or King-Queen, in a side suit.

2—A well-guarded King in a side suit.

3—A X X or K X X or 10 X X X in trumps.

Your hand contains two assisting tricks when you hold:

1—A singleton Ace in a side suit and three trumps.

2—A blank suit and three trumps.

Do not raise on trump strength alone as on this hand:

Spades K X X X X

Hearts J X

Diamonds J X X

Clubs X X X

Imagine that your partner has bid one spade and second hand has bid two hearts. Hands on which you, third hand, should pass because of a lack of normal trump support follow:

1—Spades A

Hearts X X X X

Diamonds A X X X

Clubs Q X X X

Centuria, (AP)—Expediting its service at a more economical cost, the divisions of standardization and markets of the state department of agriculture will again maintain temporary headquarters in Centuria after July 25, to furnish market service on the peach crop moving up out of Little Egypt.

The office will be maintained during the peach harvest season, it was announced today by J. W. Cummins, chief inspector. It is the second year that Centuria, because of its central location, has been selected.

From this city, inspectors will be sent to shipping points throughout the peach growing region to examine all peaches sent to market. These will be inspected and graded, so that the purchaser at market will know exactly what he is buying.

In addition the office will a clearing house for daily peach market news, with information received daily as to movement from all peach production centers to all primary markets, a service performed by the Federal department of agriculture. To this service the state agriculturists will add peach crop and market news gathered by inspection forces from all points in the peach belt.

That the inspection service is growing more popular with producers of peaches is indicated by the applications for inspection now on file in Mr. Cummins headquarters.

Charleston, (AP)—Police raided the slot machine houses in Charleston, confiscated the machines, and stored them in the basement of the city jail. But they forgot to take the money from them. Thieves broke into the jail. The machines and their contents were stolen.

Galesburg, (AP)—J. P. Hierony, University of California, will teach the Romance languages at Lombard college next year.

Springfield, Ill., (AP)—For the second time, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has held unconstitutional the provision which put teeth into the rabies eradication act.

The section he holds invalid is that which provides a fine of from ten to fifty dollars to be assessed against any officer whose owner has not complied with the muzzling or vaccination or other provision of the rabies law.

His second opinion today answered a query from S. J. Starnard, director of the state department of agriculture, who asked "who is the officer who is first and chiefly responsible for the enforcement of the act and would be subject to the penalty."

"If this section were valid," Carlstrom replied, "any officer who fails to carry out its provisions would be guilty. However, it is my previously expressed opinion that this section of the act is invalid."

"Should you take the opposite stand and attempt to carry out its provisions, I would suggest that the chief officer would be guilty in the event he ordered a subordinate to the absence of direct orders to the quest from killing a dog, but that subordinate, the subordinate would be guilty if he should fail or refuse or neglect to carry out the provisions of the act."

Sidelights on the U. S. Navy

When the caveman first discovered that he could cross a body of water by draping himself over a log and paddling with his hands and feet, the science of navigation began. It developed with the advancement of the world in other sciences, until at present it is no trick at all for one to go practically any place on the surface of the globe.

Naturally, before man began voyaging across the ocean and before international trade was carried on, there was no great need of the delicate navigational instruments in use today, and no need of charts, or maps of the coastline and oceanbed. Today, with great liners making the trip from New York to Southampton or Cherbourg almost as fast as a train could go the same distance, and with overseas airplane flights becoming more common every day, there is need of knowledge, exact and up-to-date, not only of the seas and their shorelines, but of the bed of the sea and of the air above it.

It is in the work of collecting data for the making of charts and navigational information for general use that the Navy is engaged, among its other duties. Every Naval vessel is required to send in reports of the harbor which it visits, of the seas through which it passes, and of any other information which may be of use to the Hydrographic Office in its work of keeping the mariners of all nations "up to the minute" in information.

The Hydrographic Office, a branch of the U. S. Navy, publishes three sorts of navigational charts. These charts are as nearly as possible exact reproductions of the earth's surface. Naturally it is impossible to make them exact, as a chart conforming to the shape of the globe would be an unhandy thing to have aboard ship.

The Mercator chart, the one most in use by navigators, is made in the image of a cylinder which encompasses the earth. Naturally, there is distortion in this projection, becoming greater as the Northern and Southern extremities of latitude are reached, and above latitude 70 degrees north or south this chart is useless, but as practically all the world's commerce is carried on between these two parallels, this distortion is not very important. For navigation around the poles, Polyconic charts are used. These are made in the image of a flat cap placed on the poles and with the lines of longitude radiating from a common center, the pole. Although more exact than the Mercator, they are difficult to use because the lines of longitude and the parallels of latitude cross each other at various angles, where as in the Mercator chart they cross each other at right angles.

The third "projection" used is the Gnomonic. As this is used only for surveying purposes, a description need not be given.

Charts are printed in three general sizes. First are those which depict a large portion of the earth's surface—the "general" charts. These are for the use of the Navigator in laying out his course for a voyage, and are not intended for local navigation, as they show nothing in detail.

Next are the coastline charts, which show portions of the sea coasts, all navigational aids and dangers, etc., as far out as "soundings" or to an approximate depth of 100 fathoms (600 feet). Last are the purely local charts, showing in greater detail the entrances to ports, harbor works, buildings, harbor lights and buoys, etc., all of which enables the mariner to enter a strange port at any time.

To enumerate just a few of the things which a chart shows—Depth of the water, kinds of bottom, lines of depth, danger curves, peculiarities in the water or in the bottom, rocks, shoals, reefs, tides and tidal currents, prevailing winds, shore lines, lighthouses, buoys and channels. All of these enable a navigator to proceed confidently and safely into port, and it is in collecting data for the making of these charts that every Naval vessel is engaged, some of them being charged solely with this duty.

In addition to charts, the Hydrographic Office publishes and sells at cost various navigational books and pamphlets—latest maps of the stars, methods of taking "sights" to determine the position of the ship at sea, data on the movements of the celestial bodies, tidal information—in fact, everything which is of use to mariners. This office is entirely self-supporting, the revenue from the sale of charts, etc., just covering the costs, with a slight overhead.

Lately this office has turned its attention to aerial navigation and is already publishing bulletins and making broadcasts of information relative to present and future air conditions.

It is from this office that Naval Observatory time, by which the Nation sets its clocks, comes and, in cooperation with the U. S. Weather Bureau and Coast and Geodetic Survey, advance warnings of weather conditions in the United States are issued.

This is just one of the many activities of the Navy about which little is known. Your Navy is not only the Nation's first line of defense, it also justifies its peacetime existence and your wholehearted support by the many ways in which it serves our country, exclusive of its role of "Our National Insurance."

Two Aviators Die

Sacramento, Cal., July 19—(AP)—Corporal L. W. Bryant and Private E. D. Schutte, Army aviators stationed at Mather Field, were killed today when their plane crashed four miles east of the field. Corporal Bryant was piloting the plane.

Rains on Chief

Superior, Wis., July 19—(AP)—Sudden recurrence of rain interfered today with President Coolidge's intention to forsake all business for fishing. After starting out early for a little angling expedition, the Chief Executive returned to Cedar Island Lodge to dry and seek refuge from the rain to make the outdoors disagreeable.

Mr. Coolidge thereupon turned to his working table, going over the morning correspondence and signing papers, and routine matters awaiting his action which had been taken out to the lodge today.

BIBLE CONFERENCE IS BRINGING SOME FAMOUS TEACHERS

Splendid Programs Being Enjoyed by Big Crowds Daily

We are especially favored this week in having in our midst some of the most famous preachers and teachers in the English speaking world. Last Sunday and Monday Bishop Edwin H. Hughes entranced us with his wonderful messages. Following him is Dr. John McNeill of the Church of the Open Door at Los Angeles, who is easily today one of the greatest Evangelist preachers we have. His fame is world wide. Tonight will be his last evening service and we are anxious that you should not lose this unique opportunity of listening to this great Master of Assemblies. Those who heard that wonderful address last night will not readily forget the "Feeding of the Five Thousand." Tonight at 7:30 p. m. and again tomorrow (Saturday) at 3 p. m. this gifted preacher will break the Bread of Life for you. You will regret it if you do not come to hear him.

S. D. Gordon has splendidly upheld his great reputation as a teacher and will be with us until the end of the Conference. This gifted author of the "Quiet Talks" has a way all his own in presenting the truth, so come and hear him. He will speak tonight at 6:45 p. m. Saturday at 10:30 a. m. and again on Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

Today (Friday) at 2 p. m. Rev. Wilford Ernst Mann from Virginia will be our speaker. Mr. Mann is one of the ablest preachers in the Protestant Episcopal Church of America. He will also speak on Saturday at 2 p. m. Miss Constance Brandon, one of our finest missionaries, will be the speaker on Saturday evening at 6:45 p. m. and again on Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. At one of these services she is going to tell "The Tale of a Darning Needle." Watch for the announcement.

Bishop Fred Fisher of India comes to us fresh from the field made famous by Katharine Mayo's book, "Mother India." He is the leading Missionary Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in that land. Not only an outstanding man but a great preacher. He will be with us Saturday night at 7:30 p. m. but again on Sunday at 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Dixon Bible Conference is being held on Sunday afternoon on the platform of the auditorium, immediately at the close of the afternoon service. All directors urgently invited to attend.

Champion in Great Shape for Big Bout

Speculator, N. Y., July 20—(AP)—Gene Tunney today entered the last stage of his training for the defense of his world's heavyweight title against Tom Heenev in better physical shape than he has ever been in his career.

In addition, he was probably better fitted mentally than he ever has been since he took up boxing for a livelihood. He has been training here for almost three months and during that time but two incidents have occurred which caused him any annoyance.

One was the attack on the New York Boxing Commission accredited to Tunney, and the other was a baseless rumor that he intended to retire from the ring after the Heenev match, regardless of the decision.

Both of these incidents came up during the past week but Tunney, by his prompt denials overcame them without damage to his high strung temperament.

Tunney had a day of rest yesterday when his medical adviser, Dr. Robert J. Shea, a New York surgeon, gave him a thorough examination. It showed that Tunney was in splendid shape.

Too Much Heat for Tunney's Next foe

Fair Haven, N. J., July 20—(AP)—New Zealand may have its hot moments, but none. Thomas Heenev contends, which can compare with some he has experienced in this vicinity since the weather really warmed up to its task. For this reason and because the heat took five pounds off his ample frame yesterday the challenger for Gene Tunney's crown was at ease today, ready to sit out the heat even if its lasts until he enters the ring with the champion.

The New Zealand blacksmith has been accused by some of being ready and willing to sit out any of his training periods at the slightest provocation, but there seems to be some sense to his decision to do no work today. Heenev never was a great shark at mathematics, but several hours with a stub pencil and a primary arithmetic convinced him that a steady grind between now and next Thursday in the prevailing heat would fit him to meet not Gene Tunney but Sammy Mandell at the most.

Two Fight Cards

Chicago, July 20—(AP)—Unless rain interrupts again, Chicago fight fans will have to choose between two good fight cards tonight.

In one, Joey Medill of Chicago and Mike Dundee, the Rock Island Bouncer, will meet for a promised chance at Tod Morgan's junior lightweight title. In the other W. L. "Young" Strubling of Georgia will trade punches with Tom Kirby of Boston. Both matches are billed for ten rounds.

The Medill-Dundee fight originally billed for last night, was postponed because of rain.

Who's Who in Dogdom—No. 3

He Is the Sherlock Holmes of the Canine World

The bloodhound is the Sherlock Holmes of the canine world. In recent years and as far back as 1725, the bloodhound was famous for his ability to run down criminals by scent. In the "Diary of a Gentleman of Fashion," dated 1725, we find the following comment: "Monday 5th night, went to Ranelagh, and the following day went to Kennington Common to see a trial of bloodhounds that are to be sent to the Low Countries to track criminals. One dog scented true, but the other was scarce so satisfactory. Numerous noblemen and gentlemen of fashion were present, to one of whom the diarist lost a wager of five guineas, through the hound he favored being so wrong in the nose."

How the bloodhound came by his name is a matter of conjecture. In the early days of the breed they were associated with the hunting of the blood scent of a wounded animal, but from other early writers, the inference is gathered that the purity of the breeding lead to the name bloodhound just as thoroughbred is spoken of as a blood horse.

The bloodhound stands high in canine aristocracy for he is a well bred gentleman. There is a kindly look in the bloodhound's face and his disposition is invariably in keeping with his looks. As a bad tempered bloodhound is the decided exception. At one time the breed had the reputation of being headstrong and nervous, but this was an unjust and soon passed out.

Police records offer many concrete examples of the efficiency of the bloodhound in tracking down criminals. In a number of mystery cases, after the police have been baffled, the bloodhound pressed into service often as an emergency, has put the law back on the track and brought about capture.

HEALTH DIET ADVICE
By Dr. Frank McCoy
The Fast Way to Health
QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY DR. MCCOY WHO CAN BE ADDRESSED IN CARE OF THIS PAPER BY CLOSING ENVELOPE TO THE EDITOR OF THE EVENING TELEGRAPH, DIXON, ILL.

Dr. McCoy, Los Angeles specialist, will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Evening Telegraph. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

FAINTING

When a person faints in a public place, as is usually the case, everybody in the vicinity develops an immediate kindness of heart toward the unfortunate victim tramping on each other's toes, interfering with the circulation of fresh air to the faintee, and some motherly person picks up the victim's head and holds it high so that the small amount of blood, which may be remaining in the brain, will drain out, producing an even greater loss of consciousness. Most people have been told often enough what to do when a person faints, and yet the usual procedure of crowding around and supporting the head are exactly the wrong things to do.

Many cases of fainting are brought on by a lack of oxygen in a congested room, and in this case it is important that the individual receive a large supply of fresh air. Fainting is always caused by a lack of blood in the brain and can in most cases be relieved by moving the patient quickly to an open window where a plentiful supply of air can be secured, allowing the person to lie flat on the floor without raising the head. The blood flows with gravity just as liquid outside of the body does, and the head should be lowered to allow a flow of blood to temporarily crowd the brain. All of the clothing about the neck and throat should be loosened, and above all it is important to avoid excitement when someone has fainted.

Fainting does not usually result in death even when nothing is done, but the return of consciousness may be hastened by dashing cold water on the face and fanning fresh air toward the nose. If no cold water is available, slapping may be resorted to, and it is advisable to slightly raise the arms and legs so that the blood will flow toward the head. Spirits of ammonia held to the nose will stimulate the breathing, but it is not advisable for one who has a tendency to faint to resort to the continual use of the smelling salt habit, which is certainly objectionable.

Fainting in a crowd of people is certainly an embarrassing situation, and persons, who feel that they are going to faint, can often avoid doing so by lowering the head so that a larger amount of blood will flow into the brain. If you are sitting, it is a good plan to lower your head beneath the knees. You can pretend to be searching for some object on the floor. If you are standing, and wish to avoid embarrassment, you can pretend that you are tying your shoelace, until the faint feeling has passed.

If you have a continual tendency to faint, you may be sure that you are suffering from one serious disorder of your circulation, and you should have a thorough examination to determine the cause of this.

Since your brain center controls all of the functions of the body, it is important that it be supplied with an abundance of pure wholesome blood. Our consciousness stops if the blood supply is shut off or if the blood becomes too toxic in nature.

Heart trouble and anemia are two of the most common causes of fainting, but any disease which lowers the vitality or causes a congestion of blood to some other part than the head may produce this symptom. In every case the original disease should be cured, and measures should be taken for improving the circulation and building the general health. It is important that the right foods be used and that sufficient exercise be taken to encourage the circulation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—D. K. L. asks: "Is it harmful to the digestive organs to deep-breathe as much as ten or twelve times immediately after each meal?"

ANSWER—There can be nothing particularly harmful about taking a few breathing exercises after eating, but the best time is probably when you are doing systematic physical culture exercise.

QUESTION—G. M. writes: "I consider you are doing a great and good work and I hope you may be long spared to continue it. I am 85 years old and suffer from indigestion. My food consists of powdered milk (diluted) and a little brown bread, fruit, and a small quantity of bran as a laxative. I take plenty of exercise, but still suffer from pain and lassitude after eating."

ANSWER—You should use more greens in your diet, and be careful not to overeat on the starches, or to use bread and acid fruit together.

QUESTION—D. H. G. writes: "There are times when I get real weak, mostly in the arms and legs after I start work, and in the middle of the day my eyes want to close. I even get those weak tired feelings while sitting down. Is it anemia, or is it due to malaria?"

ANSWER—I would certainly like to diagnose your trouble but cannot do so by mail as a personal examination is necessary to determine one disease from another. Go to a good diagnostician and find out if you have anemia or malaria. Then write to me again, sending a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and I will be glad to send you some literature which I have already prepared on the subject of either of these disorders.

IS THAT NICE

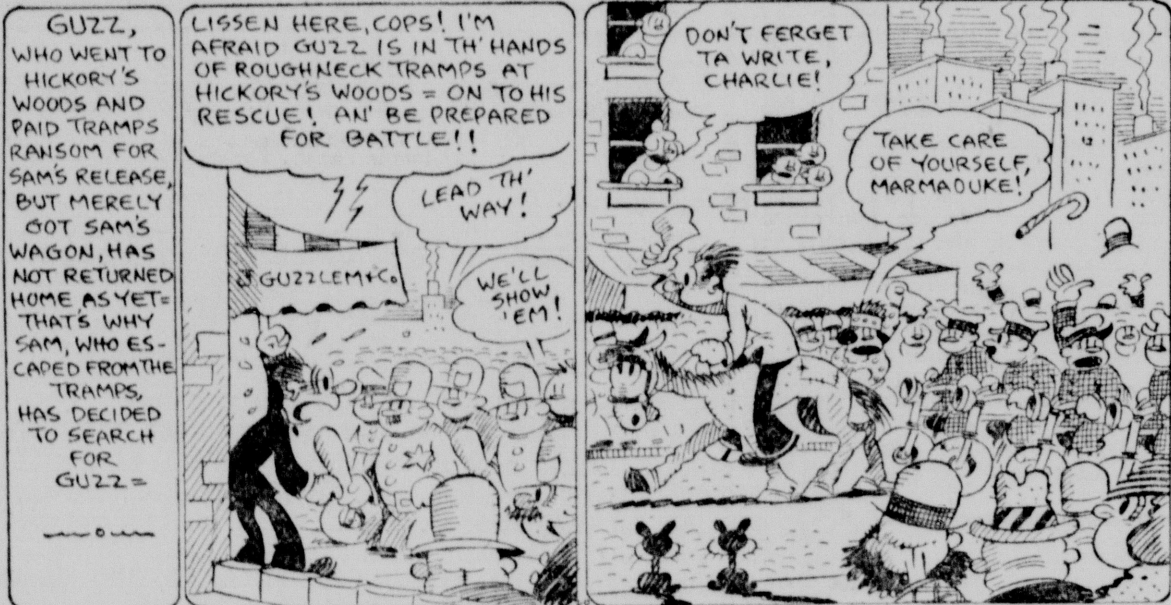

"Yes, madam. I arrived at my present position with nothing to help me but my intelligence."

"How nice to be able to say that you started with nothing at all!"—Pages Gates, Yverdon.

TILDEN GAINS IN POPULARITY THRU COMMITTEE'S ACT

French People Take U. S. Star to Their Hearts Today

BULLETIN

Auteuil, France, July 20.—(AP)—Francis T. Hunter, won the first of the Davis Cup inter-zone matches for the United States when he defeated Flaccio Gaslini, Italy, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

The Italian was no match for the New Yorker and the several hundred spectators on hand for the opening of the inter-zone finals were never in doubt as to the outcome. Gaslini showed flashes of form but was not consistent while the American used his powerful forehand to advantage throughout.

BULLETIN

New York, July 20.—(AP)—The United States Lawn Tennis Association is to stand on its exclusion of Big Bill Tilden from Davis Cup play. Despite the request of the French Tennis Federation that he be re-instated.

American officials announced that the French request that Tilden be permitted to play in the inter-zone finals against Italy today, and if successful in that series, against France in the challenge round, would be received with every courtesy and consideration. But, it was added, there was virtually no chance that the order dropping Tilden from the team would be rescinded. He was dropped because he wrote about matches at Wimbledon in which he took part.

Paris, July 20.—(AP)—The disqualification of Big Bill Tilden from Davis Cup play made him a more popular figure in France today than ever. Always admired because of his surpassing ability as a player, Tilden now has won his way into the hearts of the French people.

The French believe that no praise can be too great for the dignified, unselfish way he met the blow which removed him from the field of action in the Davis Cup battle for the first time in nine years, and jeopardized America's chances in the interzone final against Italy, starting today, and even more in the challenge round against France. After making his formal protest, Tilden's first thoughts were how he could best promote the fortunes of the American team. He decided at once to devote all his energy to training his younger comrades for the difficult task ahead of them.

Played as if Inspired

Tilden gave emphatic proof of his qualifications for this duty yesterday afternoon in his two platonic matches against the Italian ace, Baron de Morpurgo, and his teammate, John Hennessey. Never in his career did Big Bill display such inspired tennis as he did in overwhelming Morpurgo and Hennessey in straight set matches.

Tilden feels that the greater injury to him and to the team lies in the fact that his disqualification came at the eleventh hour—after his long months of painstaking efforts to develop a strong American squad to try to wrest the trophy from France. The French tennis public is just as upset over "Big Bill's" elimination, which is universally deplored.

Still Outside Chance

The American team for the challenge round, provided it survives the interzone finals, need not be selected until July 26 so that there still is time to have the decision rescinded and Tilden restored to his place.

"The Davis Cup play without Tilden," says L'Auto, "would be like Mona Lisa without the smile."

The first two singles matches in the interzone finals against Italy today found Francis T. Hunter pitted against G. de Stefani, second ranking Italian, and John Hennessey against Baron H. J. de Morpurgo.

In the doubles tomorrow, George Lott and Hennessey will meet de Morpurgo and P. Gaslini. The final two singles matches Sunday will find today's competitors exchanging opponents.

LONDON COMMENT

London, July 20.—(AP)—Disqualification of William T. Tilden, captain of the American Davis Cup team led to strong editorial comment today, in every instance adverse to the ruling of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The Post says that although the American star broke the law in letter he kept it in spirit. The action of the American controlling body, the Post believes, was both premature and far too drastic for the conditions and hope is expressed that Tilden soon will be reinstated.

The Daily News expressed the belief that the decision of the U. S. L. T. A. was based on some misunderstanding and that it is technically unjust.

Activities in Challenger's Camp

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of three articles by Henry L. Farrell, NEA Service and The Telegraph sports writer, covering the training camp of Tom Heeneey, challenger to Gene Tunney's heavyweight championship. The fighters meet in New York on July 26. In these articles Farrell tells of the difference in atmosphere of Heeneey's camp from Tunney's of the love the colony at because of a dislike for Tunney, of the training methods of Heeneey, and of the reasons why Heeneey's managers think Heeneey will uncrown Champion Gene.

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

NEA Service Sports Writer

Fairhaven, N. J.,—In marked contrast in every way to the mountain retreat in the Adirondacks where Gene Tunney is secluding himself is the duck-like stretch of seven hundred and ten acres of picturesque pastoral land where the commoner-like Tom Heeneey is preparing for the approaching world's heavyweight championship fight.

You can spend a week around the Tunney camp without having your ears grazed by the coarse language of the racket, without hearing a mention of the other fellow's name or a discussion of the business and without recalling for a moment that the champion is not at all times and in all his moments a person who never has lifted his hand in any motion other than that of an oratorical gesture.

In a Fight Camp

But once inside the imported hedge that screens the path of the tourist from the feudal layout of the Hoagland baking powder kings you never can mistake that you are in a fight camp. It is true the castles of the kings are fenced off from the barn where the fight camp is located and that the gates are locked against trespassing even into the kennels of a hundred thousand dollars worth of prize pointers and setters, but that fact is not mentioned by the guides who show the stranger around.

It is a real fight camp, one next to the heart of the old timer, that young Mr. Hoagland has permitted to be pitched on soil never before celled by the hoof marks of a prize fighter.

"Isn't this a sweller joint than Tunney's?" you are asked the moment you step inside the yard fenced off for the fight camp. You are forced, even after casual glance, to admit that it is a sweller joint. And after you have been allowed by a considerate ground-keeper of the estate to use a secret door into the other part of the estate you wonder what influence the duke to turn over even the barn for such a purpose.

You don't have to wait long for the reason to be volunteered. "Mr. Hoagland never saw a fight before," you are told. "He's only 34, he's not married, and he's worth about $20,000,000. He wouldn't even let Tunney on his ground, but he asked Heeneey to come here because he likes him. Everybody loves Tom. And Mr. Hoagland likes him so much that he not only bought twenty ringside seats for the fight out of his own pocket. He comes down all the time to see Tom work and he brings all his millionaire friends with him. And you should see some of the rich dames! And they all like Tom. Everybody likes him."

There is no doubt that everyone in the ultra-fashionable and wealthy colony including Red Bank, Rumson and Fairhaven likes Tom and dislikes Tunney. The general dislike of the champion is one reason why you hear so much professional talk about the fight and so many hopes that the champion will be attended to properly.

Tunney got his first start in culture at Red Bank where he made his first wealthy acquaintances, but as he progressed socially and professionally he selected bigger and better fields, to his own mind, for his activities and he proceeded to chill the wealthy blue bloods of the colony that first took him up socially.

Scorned Hate

Those of the middle class, the tradesmen, so to speak, also have their hate on Tunney. Their pet story is that the Red Bank lodge of Liks had secured an honorary life membership in the lodge for Tunney and sent him a beautiful gold member's plate. And Tunney sent it back without a word.

The hate of a scorned colony seems to be a terrible thing and the way the scorned colony has taken Heeneey and his crowd to its heart is obviously a slap at the cultured champion. No one really could help but have an affection for Heeneey, of course, but the scorned colonists here were prepared to adore him even before they had seen him.

Tunney never mentions Heeneey's name at Speculator and refuses to discuss the fight, but here Tunney's name is a by-word and the things predicted for him when he gets into the ring are direful things to hear.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

By HERBERT W. BARKER.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Babe Ruth is nothing if not obliging. He has bugged three homers in the past two days and they've won two ball games for the New York Yankees.

On Wednesday Wiley Moore needed three runs in the last inning if he was to save himself from defeat at the hands of the up and coming Chicago White Sox. The Yanks got two men on base and they scored ahead of Babe when he slammed the right field stands.

Against the same White Sox yesterday Herb Pennock was unsteady most of the way but the Babe pulled him through to a 6 to 4 victory by propelling his thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth circuit clouts into the stands, each time with Earle Combs on base.

These two Ruthian drives put the "Big Bam" twenty-seven games, twenty-nine days and eight home runs ahead of his 1927 schedule when he slammed 60 for a new record.

Over in the National League the

The Athletics shaved half a game off the champions' lead by turning back the St. Louis Browns in both ends of a double bill, 2 to 0 and 4 to 3, the latter in 11 innings.

Owen Carroll pitched the Detroit

Tigers to a 9 to 3 triumph over the Washington Senators in the first game of a double header but Milton Gaston reversed matters in the second. The Senators walking off with an easy 7 to 2 win.

Ed Morris registered his 13th pitching victory of the year as the Boston Red Sox evened the series with Cleveland, 3 to 2 in 11 innings.
